

Artwork featured by Craig Everett
"Culture is sacred not secret"

Wave to Plate

Indigenous Skills and Employment Program

Establishing a Market for Cultural Fisheries in Tasmania

We elevate Aboriginal leadership in work through growing strong communities and cultural knowledges of Sea Country.

Australian Government
National Indigenous Australians Agency

NIAA

LSACT

LAND AND SEA ABORIGINAL
CORPORATION TASMANIA

Establishing a Market for Cultural Fisheries in Tasmania

The Land and Sea Aboriginal Corporation Tasmania (LSACT) is the first not for profit and registered charity to operate commercial abalone fisheries and establish a domestic food tourism market. Working with the Indigenous Land and Sea Corporation (ILSC) and the Tasmanian Government, LSACT is furthering training and business opportunities.

The Wave to Plate program is run and led by Aboriginal Tasmanians, offering a supported environment to enable Aboriginal people to gain and succeed in employment in the areas of fisheries and maritime to hospitality and tourism. We elevate Aboriginal leadership in our work, through growing strong communities and cultural knowledge of Sea Country.

We have workplace mentors who link services, people, industry and skills together for increased employment impact.

Our Employment Service Officer and mentors will help navigate partnerships between Aboriginal communities and employers to improve workforce capacity and retention, bringing opportunities, especially to our youth and women, to foster successful employment outcomes.

From deck hands to divers, graphic designers to bookkeepers, running kitchens to shucking shells, there is a job out there for you.

Opportunities from Wave to Plate

In caring for Sea Country, we bring thousands of years of knowledge to fisheries. Working in fisheries is about looking after Sea Country and our families, so that we can Close The Gap together.

In and on the water

Scuba Diving Licence

Deck Hands

Boat Licences

Marine Engineer

Out of the water

Processing

Marketing

Distribution

Administration

To the customer

Sales

Hospitality

Enterprise

Tourism

Talk to a Wave to Plate Mentor

Our Aboriginal Mentors are experienced in understanding the needs of Aboriginal people and the barriers and opportunities for work.

NEVER WRITTEN A RESUME?
We can help!

THINKING ABOUT GOING BACK TO SCHOOL &
GETTING NEW SKILLS?
We can help!

WANT TO BE A DIVER OR A CHEF?
We can help!

LOOKING FOR WORK, STRAIGHT UP?
We've got you covered!

NEED HEALTH CHECKS OR HELP GETTING TO WORK?
We have the answers!

WANT TO KNOW WHAT A CULTURALLY SAFE WORKPLACE LOOKS LIKE?
We know!

Marnie Ritz

Employment Services Officer

Marnie Ritz is experienced in understanding the needs of Aboriginal people and the barriers and opportunities for work. Known to many communities, Marnie has a strong employment, training and education background. Marnie is a proud palawa woman and believes that the first experiences of work for young people are the most crucial to get right for lifelong learning.

Find out more about Tasmanian
Aboriginal Seafoods

Contact us >

marnie@tasmanianaboriginalseafoods.com.au
M: +61 477 628 432

Tasmanian Aboriginal
SEAFOODS

The Wave to Plate program is supported by

NIAA

LSACT
LAND AND SEA ABORIGINAL CORPORATION TASMANIA